Navigating these tumultuous times of profound change requires that we co-create a new paradigm of business and commerce to evolve a more peaceful, just and sustainable planet.

Evolutionary Entrepreneurship: Exploring and Cultivating a New Model of Engagement and Exchange

- Is the model of competition and exploitation serving the greater good?
- How can we ensure that purchasing decisions, event venue choices and regular vendor transactions are ecologically and economically viable options?
- What might cooperation and collaboration between complementary enterprises look like to enrich services for clients and products for customers?
- Is it possible to balance and prioritize people, profits and the planet to grow healthy, thriving businesses?
